

KAMGOIN
Community
CONSERVANCY

Scan Me

+254722 311 126

P.O. BOX32-30400, KABARNET

kamgoinconservancy@gmail.com

KAMGOIN
COMMUNITY
CONSERVANCY

Brief overview of the conservancy

Kamgoin Community Conservancy, established in 2010, is a community-owned conservancy, just 4km from Kabarnet, Baringo County. Encompassing 35 acres of land, it is surrounded by a Tugen community that primarily relies on agriculture, including small-scale crop farming, livestock keeping, and beekeeping for their livelihood. The conservancy features a pristine forest with indigenous trees and diverse wildlife. Visitors can enjoy a range of ecotourism activities, such as birdwatching, honey harvesting, hiking and nature walks. Kamgoin Conservancy is a harmonious blend of conservation and community sustainability.

Wildlife and Ecosystem

Within the Conservancy lies a dense forest featuring a variety of indigenous tree species, including red cedar, sandalwood, and fig trees, which provide essential habitat for the endangered white and black colobus monkeys. Additionally, this forest is home to other wildlife such as warthogs, honey burger, snakes, vervet monkeys, and a diverse range of birds including eagles and hornbills.

Conservation efforts

- Establishment of tree nursery
- Apiary
- Beadwork
- Cultural Artifacts exhibition
- Herbal exhibition

Tourism attractions & Activities

Discover the breathtaking Kamgoin Community Conservancy, where nature thrives, and immerse yourself in captivating wildlife, awe-inspiring landscapes, lush forests, and rich cultural experiences. These attractions include Kaperkee view point and kipkoror view point, kipkoror cliff and Cherongo scenic areas among others. Eco-tourism activities include; birdwatching, hiking, nature walks, cultural dancing, honey harvesting, sightseeing, and academic.

Guided Tours & Safaris

Tourist visiting the conservancy experience thrilling adventure activities guided local tour guides who share insight about the conservancy's unique wildlife, culture and scenic natural wonders.

Cultural events & festivals

- Annual cultural initiations

Black & white Columbus monkeys

White colobus monkeys are endangered primates found in Kamgoin conservancy and in some parts of Africa, known for their striking black and white fur and arboreal lifestyle. They are herbivores, and their conservation status varies, with some species listed as vulnerable on the IUCN Red List.

Get involved

Ways for visitors to support or volunteer, donation and membership information.

For donations and support contact;
kamgoinconservancy@gmail.com

Visitor information

Conservation Fee

No	Type of visitor (s)	Adult (18 & above)	Child (12-17 years)
1.	Non-citizen	20 USD	300 kshs
2.	Citizen	250 kshs	100 kshs
3.	Students (with valid school ID)	100 kshs
4.	Primary pupils	-	50 kshs

Opening hours 8:00AM-5:30PM

Accommodation

Incase you need accommodation please contact us.

